Dumping solutions

May 28, 2009

A US company and its partner in the UAE claim to have come up with a solution to the problem of illegal waste dumping that tarnished the country's image in the past year. 'In essence, telemetry allows you to know what both vehicles and drivers are doing at all times, how fast they are driving, where they are working, where they are dumping, what they are dumping and what they are collecting,' said Chris Wiener, General Manager of ArabIT. 'In spite of best efforts, however, including high fines, deportation and rewards for those who report illegal dumpers, only a relatively small percentage of offenders are caught,' he said.
